When you board an airplane, you put your life in the hands of the pilot and co-pilot. What happens in the cockpit when these professionals are faced with impending death? CHARLIE VICTOR ROMEO, directed by John Cohen, is a riveting exploration of real-life and imagined airline emergencies. The film focuses on six harrowing airplane mishaps, each narrated by the pilot or co-pilot involved in the incident. "When you fly you are playing with death," says one pilot, "all of us." What happens when the unimaginable happens? This film invites us to explore the extraordinary courage, resilience, and human connection that defines these pilots and co-pilots as they face life-threatening situations in the cockpit. Whether you are a frequent flyer or a curious spectator, CHARLIE VICTOR ROMEO is a powerful reminder of the human spirit and the staggering challenges of flying." — Los Angeles Times.
